Investigative Statement Analysis is the structured examination of a person's verbatim words. It is an investigative tool used to detect truth and/or deception in written statements, oral statements, transcripts, 911 calls, newspaper articles and other statements.

Stan Burke has nearly 30 years of law enforcement experience. As a Special Agent for the FBI he taught investigative statement analysis and interviewing & interrogation at the FBI Academy and the FBI National Academy as a member of the FBI's Behavioral Sciences Unit Joint Communication Exploitation Research Team. He currently consults with law enforcement agencies and financial investment companies throughout the world.
